Wilkes Evans is the newest addition to the Parrish Construction Group family. He brings a varied background of construction experience including preconstruction, project management and business development. As Construction Manager his responsibilities include client relationship management, project execution and strategic development with an emphasis on the academic markets where Parrish has developed expertise.

Wilkes is a graduate of Georgia Southern University with a Bachelor of Science in Construction Management and a Masters of Business Administration. He is an active member of Martha Bowman United Methodist Church in Macon, GA and participates in the Joshua's Men Christian leadership group as well as the United Methodist Men through Fishers of Men. Wilkes previously served on the Georgia Southern Construction Management Associates Council Board as the Warner Robins Vice-Chair.
